Lahendus:

Tegime printreklaami, kus lõime Eesti kõige populaarsema-aabitsale "Karu-aabits" uue lehekülje P-tähe õppimiseks. Selleks, et uus lehekülg oleks armastatud aabitsa vääriline, kasutasime algupärasesse "Karu-aabitsasse" loodud Viive Toll'i originaalillustratsioone.

Tulemused:

Kampaania sai õige pea väga populaarseks ning Pehmiku müük kasvas päevadega kordades. Vähese ajaga hakati kuus müüma rohkem kui 300 000 pakki Pehmikut. Tänu sellisele tulemusele märgiti palaleivad esmakordelt ära Nielseni uuringus eraldi segmendina ning Pehmik selle segmendi ülekaaluka turuliidrina.

Solution:

We came up with a print advert which was a "new page" for the most popular alphabet book in Estonia ever - the "Teddy Bear's A-B-C Book". The new page was about the letter P. In order to respect the love that the people of Estonia have for the Teddy Bear's book, we used Viive Toll'i genuine illustrations created for the original "Teddy Bear's A-B-C Book".

Results:

The campaign gained more and more popularity, boosting up the sales of Pehmik so that it took just a little while until more than 300, 000 packets of Pehmik were sold in a month. As a result, black soft buns were first segmented in the Nielsen Survey, with Pehmik being the utmost market leader in that segment.
